doesn Senators can be named who have taken those steps, and by a two hours speech sarned twice the salary which the Government allows.

It has happened, and a marked instance occurred this Winter, in which an ex-Senator appeared before the Supreme Court and argued the unconstitutionality of an act of Congress which he himself had played a prominent part in framing and causing to be enacted into a law. He won his case, too.

It is estimated that probably seventy-five members of the present House and Senate are in receipt of corporation retainers, it is notorious that the amendment to the Income Tax law, practically exempting corporations from furnishing lists of their employees, was fixed up in conference and slipped through both House and Senate with scarcely a ripple. While most of these corporation retainers are small, they are as effective in muzuling the receiver when corporate interests are concerned as though they mounted into the big corporate interests are concerned his name attached to a half dozen petty six-by-nine laws, ostensibly in the interest of labor, who has been in recept of $5.00 a year from one of the greatest monopoly corporations in the country, and he is no exception.

There have been several attempts to secure legislation which would compel Representatives, Senators and other public officials to steer clear of corporate connections, but they have invariably been smothered. It is absurd to suppose that a sot of Congressmen who are not above grabbing a hundred dollars at the end of a sesson under the plea of extra clerk hire are above favoring corporations and corporate interests in legislation when they sit in Congress with corporation retainers in their pockets.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28.—All is art opened the financial Pandora's box cott monetary conference resolution in His remarks excited Senator Wolcott, who replied by attacking Stewart's posi-tion so vigorously that it made the lat-fer squirm. "I am for American bimetallism," said Mr. Wolcott, "but I do not believe we ought to throw away this magnificent opportunity to advance the interests of world-wide international bimetallism." ONE LESS BATTLESHIP.

Committee Cuts the Naval Appropriation Bill. Special to The Evening World)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28.-The Senate propriation Committee has cut out one tileship from the Naval Appropriabill and will report but two. This ar in the past week to keep the riations for the Fifty-third Con-appropriations for the Fifty-third congrees inside the billion-dollar mark, a task which now looks hopeless.

But a graver danger confronts the battleships. They may be able to witnstand shot and shell when built, but they are still on paper and cannot withstand a twenty-four hours' verbal assault in the Benate. Populists Peffer, Stewart and others are prepared to talk them to the bottom of the legislative sea, and can do so unless they can be traded off with some legislative sop, which is doubtful.

The legislative situation so far as the The legislative situation so far as the Senate is concerned is perflous. Only three appropriation bills have passed both houses and gone to the President. Six are still in conference, and the dangerous Hawaiian cable amendment to the Diplomatic and Consular bill etill blocks that measure. The Senate Democratic conferrees will back down to-day on the samendment, but it does not follow that the Senate will. Senator Haie and his Republican associates are fighting madand threaten to defeat the measure before they will allow the House to make them give up the cable.

The next bone of contention will come in the Sundry Civil bill. Members of the House jeer at the amendment for the purchase of the Blaine site as a poker party scheme of good fellowship, and say they prefer to see the proposed theater built to furnishing more air.

As none of the pilots aboard has brought a vessel in since then, it is thought that the schooner has been driven south of the regular steamship track, and perhaps wrecked. The Warren, which is a schooner rig-ged two-master, was ballasted with forty tons of pig iron and would not float long after she once sprung aleak. The six pilots aboard were also part owners of the Warren.
